CommuniGate Systems has implemented new measures to insure all of our customers have access to support around the clock. No matter what level of services level agreement in place, our response time will be elevated for all systems administrators of the CommuniGate Pro Unified Communications platform. We have also activated critical support procedure for supporting our government clients involved in mission critical national notification and communications systems.

We understand the importance of the communications that our platform is entrusted to provide. Our mission is always to provide security and business continuity no matter what. To provide peace of mind to those whom manage mission critical communications during the COVID-19 crisis we have added resources to ensure our continued reputation as a highly reliable platform for the Regulated Industries.
